

ENABLING WORKS NEARING COMPLETION

Enabling works to prepare the site for the new $110.2 million Cowra Hospital is almost complete, paving the way for main works construction to commence later this year.

Work taking place at the rear of the Cowra Hospital involves the removal of existing buildings and preparing the site.

The Nurses Quarters is the final building to be removed with all works expected to be completed by June 2023.

Enabling works contractor, Lipman has been managing all waste material with a focus on recycling as much as possible. All waste has been disposed of in accordance with statutory requirements.

ARTS WORKING GROUP

Following a community Expression of Interest (EOI), an Arts Working Group has been established to identify which of the many existing artworks and items of memorabilia will be transferred and on display in the new hospital as well as new artwork commissioned.

The unique history of the existing hospital is being captured through a detailed photo archive, which will provide a photographic record of the Cowra health service for the local community. A number of bricks have been retained from the Nurses Quarters and will also be retained from the existing Cowra Hospital.

The reuse of these bricks will be considered in consultation with the Arts Working Group and staff as the project progresses.

MAIN WORKS CONTRACTOR

The main works contractor is expected to be appointed in mid 2023, following a competitive tender process.

Once appointed the contractor will finalise the design and planning with the project team with construction of the new $110.2 million health facility to begin soon after.
